Strongbow Resources release new video presentation

Strongbow Resources {TSX.V: SBW} have issued a new video presentation of their South Crofty mine, located in Cornwall, south west England.

South Crofty is a former tin mine that Strongbow are going to return to production. It has a 43-101, and is 100% owned.

.

Keith Russ, a technical service engineer of the South Crofty Tin Project, stands in a mining tunnel at South Crofty tin mine in Redruth, U.K., on Thursday, Aug. 11, 2016. Strongbow Exploration Inc., who the bought mine last month, could have the mine in production by 2019 or 2020, delivering 20 tons of tin a day, according to Chief Executive Officer Richard Williams. Photographer: Simon Dawson/Bloomberg

To view the video, please click HERE