TSX Venture Exchange falls another 2% today as volatility continues

Toronto Venture Exchange.

The Venture fell another two percentage points today as market volatility continued in view of the impending meeting between the USA and China in Argentina in November.

The market opened at 644, and closed at 630.

Toronto Venture Exchange.

The Venture fell another two percentage points today as market volatility continued in view of the impending meeting between the USA and China in Argentina in November.

The market opened at 644, and closed at 630.