Comment

I don't really like to see options being repriced, as clearly management haven't achieved what they expected to share price wise, but it does at least bring money into the company by moving their price down to a level where they can be exercised.

If they didn't do it they would have to raise money in the market anyway, so no additional dilution is created as such.

The recent takeout of Pretium's Brucejack mine (HERE) focuses attention on the Treaty Creek properties now, and one wonders whether covetous eyes will look to take out these projects due to their close proximity?
