Bardoc Gold presentation at Diggers and Dealers 2020

Bardoc Gold (ASX: BDC)

CEO Robert Ryan presented to the recent Diggers and Dealers mining conference held in Kalgoorlie, Western Australia. This was a live conference held with an audience due to the lack of the covid-19 virus in this part of Australia.

Ryan outlined the company's plans to bring the project through to production, and highlighted the excellent margins at their AISC of A$1200, as opposed to the A$2,650 current price of gold.

Bardoc are well cashed up, with A$13 million in the bank, and are currently drilling to increase their resource size, before the production decision that will be made early in 2021.

The presentation contains a couple of new slides outlining future drill plans and explaining where they are focusing their current drill program. There looks to be excellent potential to expand the known resource, and enable Bardoc to become the next 100,000 pa oz Au producer in Western Australia, by the year 2022.
