Firefly Metals Updated Corporate Presentation

Firefly Metals (ASX: FFM)

Firefly Metals, the ASX listed exploration and development company that acquired the Green Bay project containing the Ming Mine from former AIM listed Rambler Metals and Mining, have released an updated Corporate Presentation.

Comment

I followed the sad story of Rambler Metals as they dived into admininistration and ultimatelly lost their Ming Mine, which was in production, but costs were higher than revenues, a recipe for disaster of course.

Firefly have a strong management team that have created shareholder wealth before, and are going back to the drawing board to drilll out a larger resource before resuming production at Ming.

I like to follow sucessful management teams, in good jurisdictions, so Firefly ticks all the boxes for me.
