Leviathan Gold has commenced trading today on the TSX Venture Exchange

Leviathan Gold (TSX.V: LVX)

Commenced trading today on the Toronto Venture Exchange under the ticker LVX.

Leviathan was spun out of Fosterville South, as non core assets. The new company has two highly prospective projects, Avoca and Timor, both located in Victoria State, Australia.

There is a tight share structure of a fraction under 100 million shares, which have been gifted to Fosterville South shareholders the record date. It should be noted that only 10% of the gifted shares became free trading today, and the rest will become tradable at 15% each six month period, so up to three years.

I like the idea of the escrow period for the shares, as it encourages investors to hold for the longer term, and gives the company a chance to develop projects of substance without the fear of constant selling, and ensures future financings won't be too dilutive.

The company starts with C$11 million in cash at the bank and no debt.

- drill permits in place to allow for immediate exploration
