

London Mining Conferences are Becoming Identical

City Investors Circle

This week I attended the Mines and Money Conference in London. Normally this would be at the Design Centre, Islington, but this year the venue has changed.

It was held in the former GLC County Hall building alongside Waterloo station, the same venue in fact as the 121 mining conferences, on the same floor even. The similarities didn't end there either. {...}

London Mining Conferences are Becoming Identical s Rivals use the Same Venue

City Investors Circle – London mining conferences

This week I attended the Mines and Money Conference in London. Normally this would be at the Design Centre, Islington, but this year the venue has changed.

It was held in the former GLC County Hall building alongside Waterloo station, the same venue in fact as the 121 mining conferences, on the same floor even. The similarities didn't end there either.

The registration area was set up the same, the coffee refreshment area as well, and the only slight difference is the luncheon buffet was not as plentiful or lavish as the 121 conferences.

Lunch was served in those clever compartmentalised boxes also used for the 121 events, and the food was pretty much the same.

Everything was so similar that it was easy to believe one was actually at the 121 conference!

The only small difference was the reduced number of delegates compared to the other show, Mines and Money did seem a little quiet, and there were less booths.

Having said all that I preferred the reduced number of people, it was more relaxed and less hectic compared to 121.

When it first started the 121 format of 121 meetings in booths was a new concept for UK mining shows, although it was pioneered, I believe, by the Denver Gold Group for their Swiss and US shows many years ago.

We have now arrived at the point where the Denver Gold Group, 121, and Mines and Money are all using the same format, so one wonders who will break ranks and design something mold breaking?

In the meantime, the Global Mining Finance Summer Conference is about to run in London. This runs in the old traditional way of having a few speaker and corporate presentations, brief Q and A's, and vibrant networking sessions.

Nice to still have a traditional mining conference, that's a bit different, even if it's only because they have not copied someone else's idea.

=====

City Investors Circle is based in the financial district in the City of London

We present interesting and exciting junior mining companies listed on the ASX and TSX stock exchanges to a group of city professionals, and private investors, all of whom are active investors with a mandate to invest in junior mining companies.

Our audience is selected and invited individually to ensure interest and relevance for the presenting company.

Meetings are non deal, small group, highly focused and engaged, with a lively Q and A to follow the main presentation.

We create awareness, and maintain interest in presenting companies by disseminating their future news to our entire investor group via email, social media, and our Monthly Review newsletter.

If you wish to present to our select group of active mining investors, please email andrew@city-investors-circle.com

=====

This website is not sponsored, we are truly independent, and will always remain so.

Companies featured here have either presented to the Circle in London, or have been selected because they are considered to have interesting projects, in good jurisdictions, run by an experienced management team.

All information used in the preparation of this communication has been compiled from publicly available sources that we believe to be accurate and reliable, however, we cannot, and do not, guarantee the accuracy or completeness of this.

These articles are for awareness and informational purposes only, and are not recommendations in any form. Always consult an investment professional.

To read our full terms and conditions, please click HERE