City Investors Circle – Market Review 31st May 2022 Published

The Review features a focus on Minera Alamos (MAI.V), and comments on poor Q1 financials from Karora Resources, and the reasons for them.

We also feature news from Calidus Resources (ASX: CAI) who have been very busy news wise in May.

The focus as always is the global economic news and how it's effecting the precious and base metal prices. Gold continues to be under pressure due to a high US dollar and 10 year treasury bond rates.

We also raise the question "where is safe to invest in order to protect your capital in these volatile markets?", and offer a few suggestions.

In reality it's a tough question, with physical gold kept personally (with the obvious risk of theft or loss) rather than in a bank or institution looking the best option, when compared to investing in an account paying half a percent interest when inflation is around 8%, or in stocks and bonds that are both falling.
