Master Investor Show London postponed until December

Master Investor Show – London

The organisers have announced the movement of the show from the 28th March 2020 to the 5th December 2020.

This has been done due to the coronavirus pandemic.

Master Investor Show Postponed

abm March 13, 2020

We regret to announce the postponement of this year's Master Investor Show in London (due to take place 28th March) until the 5 th of December 2020.

This is not a decision we have taken lightly but in the present circumstance, we did not feel that we could, in all good conscience, host an event which, at best, would be a shadow of its true self and at worst could result in people becoming infected with the virus.

Whilst only a short time ago we felt optimistic that we could confidently proceed with our plans, the pace at which the situation is developing means that we feel it would be most prudent to postpone the show to a later date.

We thank you for your understanding and will be issuing further details of our revised plans very soon.

Kind Regards,
The Master Investor Team