Mining Review 7th September 2025

G Mining Ventures received the final permit for the Oko West project in Guyana. The company have already started to order long lead items, and the development phase has now commenced.

This starts an exciting phase for the company, and I wonder if the time is ripe for it to make a bid for G2 Goldfields, their northern neighbour whose project abuts Oko West? A combination looks to make sense, there are two other predators, Anglogold and Zijin, so locking up the land now would make sense in my opinion.

Westgold issued an updated MRE and Ore reserve calculation, and the share price finally gained some traction as a result.

New Murchison Gold reported high-grade gold hits at Abbots.

Generally my portfolio of producing gold stocks had a strong week, whereas the explorers were more mixed. Fortunately I focus on producers rather than explorers, so last week was probably my best of the year so far.

Will the FED rate cut, which looks rock solid for next week be the catalyst for a further run up in the price of gold, or is it already factored in?

Gold is running strongly at the moment, buoyed by the seemingly imminent US rate cut, now estimated to be a half percent. Silver is also rising strongly on the back of rising industrial demand.

The price of lithium is falling back after a brief spurt on the back or China closing some lithium mines to cut the over supply in the markets and boost the price. The sale of EVs in Europe is still weak, price being a main factor in my opinion.

Copper is also falling back after the panic over trump's tariffs and the rush to export into the USA before they became effective.
