

PDAC 2022 – Day 3 quite quiet

PDAC 2022 – Day 3

The conference was quiet this morning, but busier than the old half day Wednesday of previous years, which were hardly worth attending as booth holders were conspicuous by their absence, due to the festivities of the previous evening.

PDAC 2022 opening day, the throng being held outside due to congestion in registration is visible in the background.

The conference was quiet this morning, but busier than the old half day Wednesday of previous years, which were hardly worth attending as booth holders were conspicuous by their absence due to the festivities of the previous evening.

Is this evidence management are taking things more seriously this year I wonder?

I caught up with the Eloro (TSX.V: ELO) guys at their stand, and they informed me they had a good news release yesterday (mid conference?), but sadly didn't have a copy on their stand, which is poor, to say the least.

When I'm home I'm looking forward to reading it as apparently they have some superb hits at depth, with the gold grade increasing the deeper they drill.
