StoreDot could be part of Daimler's future EV strategy

Storedot (private) recently raised $60 million, with a significant investment from German company Daimler.

Daimler are investing over $1 billion on a battery factory in Alabama, USA, and Storedot's Flash charge battery could well be part of that facility's production in the future.

.

To read the full article, please click HERE