

Storedot MolecuLED displays free of harmful metals

Storedot, the Israeli based company focusing on non toxic molecular development have added a significant third string to their bow, enhanced graphic displays using newly developed molecules.

The company are already very advanced in commercialising their 30 second phone battery charger, and have a 5 minute car battery charger in late development stage.

Storedot are at the forefront of new technology, developing batteries and now displays that conform to the highest environmental standards, and are completely non toxic.

Chelsea FC owner Roman Abramovich invested $10 million in a Storedot financing recently.

To read about the new MolecuLED displays, please click HERE

To view a video demonstration of MolecuLED, please click HERE