Colonial Coal (TSX.V: CAD)

Is the subject of a new research report by respected analyst Tormont.

The updated report adds depth to the current metallurgical (coking) coal market and the various players involved in the machinations of M & A.

Colonial Coal is a metallurgical (coking) coal explorer in the Peace River area of British Columbia, Canada.

Colonial has a large circa 800m ton resource of premium grade steelmaking coal adjoining other major projects, close to rail transportation infrastructure, with access to a west coast port for export routes to Japan, China, and India.

Sea routes are closer than from Vancouver and the Newcastle port, in Australia, lowering shipping costs and transportation time.
